

Crowds to line the streets as soldiers march

THOUSANDS of people are expected to line the route when the 1st Battalion The Royal Anglian Regiment parades through Harlow town centre today (Thursday).

More than 200 soldiers will take part in the march, the first time the Regiment has done so since being awarded the Freedom of Harlow three years ago.

The troops have just returned from Afghanistan, where they were deployed in a non-combat role proving security to UK and NATO troops.

The parade will start from the car park in Post Office Road at 12.30pm and follow a route along Broad Walk and into the Water Gardens where the troops will be inspected.

Harlow Council chairman Tony Hall said: "I hope as many people as possible line the route to thank and cheer our troops for their bravery and service and to welcome them home."

The march is expected to draw a large number of people into the town centre and a number of road closures will be put in place for safety and security reasons.

COUNTY COUNCIL'S SEEN LIGHT AT LAST

As the clocks go back, authorities agree new deal to switch street lamps back on

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

STREET lights across the town will once again shine brightly all night long after Harlow Council signed a groundbreaking deal to switch them back on.

The agreement reached with Essex County Council means the part-night blackout, which has been operating since March of last year, will come to an end this weekend.

The switch-on has been timed to coincide with the clocks going back for the start of Greenwich Mean Time.

Street lights in Harlow, as elsewhere in Essex, were turned off during the early hours to save money and cut carbon emissions. But earlier this year Harlow's Labour-run authority voted to increase council tax by 1.5 per cent to raise the £106,000 needed to pay for the lights to stay on.

On Tuesday the leaders of Harlow Council and Essex County Council – Jon Clempner and David Finch – held a joint press conference during which the deal was signed.

Cllr Clempner said: "Keeping Harlow's street lights on responds to the genuine concerns of the community."

"Many shift workers walking or cycling to and from work want to see where they are going."

Cllr Finch added: "I have worked closely with the leader of Harlow Council and thank him for this joint approach to identify a suitable way forward."

Council ordered to reveal the full cost of decision

Advice service was wound up by Harlow Council

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Council has been ordered to reveal the full cost of terminating the contract with Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice service.

The Information Commissioner has ruled the authority must make public the full costs of the closure, including redundancy payments, the loss of business rates, and any costs associated with evicting HWRA from its town centre premises.

Yesterday (Wednesday) a council spokesman said it has now complied with the ruling and released the details to HWRA but was unable to provide them to the Star when asked.

The commissioner made the ruling after a Freedom of Information request submitted by HWRA to Harlow Council was partially rejected by the authority.

The commissioner also ruled the council was incorrect when it refused to release information on the grounds of commercial sensitivity.

"The commissioner's decision is that the council has incorrectly stated that it has responded to all parts of the request," said the report produced by the ICO.

The charity closed two years ago when Harlow Council withdrew its core source of funding in a row over unpaid debts.

CLOSED: The former HWRA service offices in East Gate

The service had offered to repay the cash owed to the authority – understood to be in the region of £120,000 – over several months including a one-off payment of £60,000, but the authority rejected the proposed repayment plan and terminated the organisation's contract, making 12 staff redundant.

A year-long legal battle in the High Court followed at the end of which a judge ordered the winding up of the service.

The council spokesman said "The council received a request in June 2014 under the Freedom of Information Act which included 18 enquiries regarding the former HWRA. Some of the request consisted of direct questions and were not about information the council held so fell outside the scope of the Act.

"However, the council acted openly and decided that it would also answer the direct questions.

"The council has a commitment to be open and transparent and therefore has accepted the ICO's decision that it was in the public's interest to disclose information which was originally withheld by the council due to it being confidential in nature.

"The council has now provided the information requested in full."

Marathon man David raises cash for charity

A MAN has raised £2,000 for charity after battling back from pneumonia to complete a marathon walk.

David Green (pictured above), of Willowfield, Harlow, was training for the 26.2 mile Shine Night Walk and only planned to raise £300.

But after his online fundraising campaign snowballed, the 51-year-old, who had a kidney removed in 2012, was given an incentive to complete the overnight walk through London for Cancer Research UK.

Achievement

"It was a real achievement for me to complete it," he said. "By 23 miles I was really beginning to struggle but I continued and when I reached the finish at Old Billingsgate I was absolutely tired but over the moon."

David, who works at Angling Direct in Waltham Cross, completed the walk with a friend.

"I am proud of myself for completing it and I lost loads of weight. I lost nearly four stone since the kidney operation three years ago," he said.

David's achievement was extra special considering three years ago he suffered with bilateral pneumonia. The condition affects both lungs, causing them to become inflamed.

Emily faces her fear with a skyfall in memory of aunt

A YOUNG woman conquered her fear of flying by jumping out of a plane for charity.

Emily Levoir, of Ladyshot, Harlow, raised almost £1,000 for St Clare Hospice by taking the plunge at an airfield in Kent.

The 22-year-old completed the tandem jump with Henry Van Halewyn, of Skydive Headcorn, in memory of her aunt Jo who lost her battle to cancer in 2013.

"Anyone who knows me knows that I hate flying, so getting into that tiny plane was a big challenge for me," she said. "I had the idea to raise money for St Clare as they were so amazing when Jo was very poorly."

"That idea turned into jumping out of a plane, but if you're not going to push yourself then what's the point? I really appreciate all the kind donations I have had."

Her mother Tracey said:

"Emily hates flying but conquered her fear. She hated every minute of it but she persevered and did it, and that's the main thing."

"She was very close to Jo and we miss her so much. Emily wanted to raise money for St Clare Hospice as they looked after Jo towards the end of her life."

Emily has now raised £940, putting her within striking distance of her £1,000 target. To make a donation visit her fundraising page at www.justgiving.com/Emily-Le-Voir.

Street lights switch-on deal signed and sealed

Councils reach agreement to end town's part-night lighting

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

STREET lights throughout the town will be turned back on all night after the leaders of Harlow Council and Essex County Council signed a landmark deal this week.

County Hall has agreed to allow Harlow's Labour-run council to fund the move with money raised by a 1.5 per cent hike in the council tax.

As a result, the lights will be stay on during the early hours when the clocks go back at 2am on Sunday.

Since last March most of the town's street lights, along with those elsewhere in the county, have been turned off for up to five hours. The county council said the decision to introduce part-night lighting would save £1.4m a year and help to reduce its carbon footprint.

At first the lights went off between midnight and 5am all week but shortly afterwards the county council altered the timings to 1am-5am for six of the seven nights.

Harlow is now the first town in Essex to end the blackout.

Speaking at a press conference called to announce the deal on Tuesday, Harlow Council leader Jon Clempner said: "This has taken longer than I would have liked but we now have a long-term plan to meet the specific needs of Harlow."

"Keeping Harlow's street lights on responds to the genuine concerns of the community. Many shift workers walking or cycling to and from work want to see where they are going."

Difference

Cllr Clempner said that while figures showed there had been a drop in the overall level of crimes committed during the period the scheme was in force, the switch-on would make a difference by eliminating the fear of crime.

"Working patterns in Harlow mean people are going out and returning in darkness," he said. "You can understand why crime becomes a real fear."

"We carried out an opinion survey and I'm confident that, looking at the results, turning on the street lights is the right thing to do."

In March this year Harlow Council approached County Hall with a proposal to cover the costs of keeping the lights back on by raising council tax.

Initially that plan was rejected and Conservative councillors in Harlow criticised Labour for failing to reach an agreement with the county council before it started collecting the extra revenue.

There were even calls for the money to be refunded but Cllr Clempner said he will propose the money is held in a reserve which can then be used to mitigate rising energy costs in the future. "The money will be put to good use," he added.

Sitting alongside Cllr Clempner at the press briefing was county council leader David Finch, who said: "I am pleased to share this announcement with the residents of Harlow.

"I have worked closely with the leader of Harlow Council and thank him for the joint approach to identify a suitable way forward."

Harlow MP Robert Halfon said he was pleased an agreement had been reached between the two councils, adding: "I have been campaigning hard to turn on the street lights."

News of the agreement has received a mixed response from residents, many of whom turned to social media to voice their opinions.

Persistence

Mandy Jacobs, of Felmongers, told the Star: "I want to congratulate Harlow Council for their persistence in pursuing this on behalf of the town residents. I feel very strongly about this issue as safety is a pre-requisite of a stable community."

However, Nigel Fleming, 56, of Dunstalls, said: "Now we will have light pollution all night. It will be a waste of money and electricity in my opinion."

"It seems like an awful lot of money for a service not everyone needs. I walked out in the dark last Christmas and I found I soon got used to it."

Retain charm of Passmores

SIR The reported re-opening of the former Passmores School should not come as much of a surprise given the urgency involved in expanding existing primary school provision in Harlow.

If we assume that with the current cost restraints, the building will not be demolished, can we also assume that refurbishment will go beyond a lick of paint?

I've always thought that the core building with its internal courtyard has considerable charm and should not be lost.

I'm suggesting that before any drastic intervention takes place, Essex County Council submit the refurbishment project to an architectural competition with the brief to retain as much as possible of the existing buildings as is consistent with contemporary educational practice.

Looking back to when the county council announced that it proposed to demolish Brays Grove School and abandon Passmores, it is clear to me that it was all a costly mistake.

Brays Grove could have survived and Passmores been expanded on its existing site – there's plenty of room.

Still, we are where we are so it would help heal the wounds if the council could at least make a decent fist of Passmores' return to life by doing something of value to this sorry site (sight).

See the result of this year's Stirling Prize for Architecture. Good design brings good learning.

Whilst I'm on my hobby horse, ECC evicted Harlow Hockey Club from the grounds when the school closed. The all-weather pitch the club used was funded in part by Sport England, which expects a life of 25 years from the facilities it funds. This lifespan was not met.

Even worse, the council then dug up the pitch to deter travellers, effectively destroying an asset that we, the public, had paid for and condemning the hockey club to playing outside of Harlow.

Maybe this is the time for redress?

Sickened by dragon thugs

SIR I was so angry and disgusted to read the shocking news about hooligans at Summers Park kicking the poor bearded dragon as though they were playing a game of football (Star, October 15).

I would like to thank the wonderful woman who stepped in and stopped them. At least someone has some decency which is more than I can say for these youths. It's a shame the woman's dog didn't bite a couple of them.

It beggars belief what kind of families these yobs must come from. Their parents obviously let them run riot if they are out at 10pm on a Sunday and they are in their early teens.

Responsible parents would make sure their children are in at that time on a Sunday night, not out trying to kill a defenceless creature and creating mayhem.

If this is the sort of thing their children get up to then social services should be involved as well as the police to exact an appropriate punishment for this crime and for their parents being so irresponsible.

If I had done something like this as a child my mother would have really had it in for me. But then standards were different then and most children knew the difference between right and wrong.

What the poor animal suffered does not bear thinking about. I don't care about their lives or how difficult things are for them; there is no excuse for this kind of cruelty and they should know better.

If this is the kind of thing they do as adolescents, what will they move onto next? A child perhaps? I think they all need a good kick (preferably out of Harlow) before things really get out of hand as these scum could be future criminals.

Give residents a say on board

SIR It was with some interest that I read the two recent letters from Mike Carr.

What concerns me is his rewriting of the past without even considering the opportunities for residents and tenants to be included on the board of the new council-run organisation when delivering council services.

Given the number of complaints about council services in these pages, this option would have them queuing around the block to get involved and must be considered by councillors, given it is usually line one of every election leaflet I have received over the years. They would be foolish to ignore it this time.

Moreover, having known Mike for many years, I am amazed at his positive attitude towards the services provided by Kier Harlow because he has been the most vociferous and trenchant critic of their work. Perhaps he should have asked the tenants before making the assertion that the management of Kier Harlow were always accountable for the work they did.

Finally, if he has been receiving so many calls in support of his views on the proposed change to delivering council services to residents, hopefully he has made a note of those people who called him and can submit a report outlining their concerns.

He ends with this question: who pays for it? If he doesn't know who will pay for this change to service delivery then I despair of him and the tenants he claims to represent.

Carters Mead, Harlow

Legacies of corporation?

SIR Brian Mooney's letter of October 8 headline 'Dualling must be a priority' raises interesting points, some possibly contentious.

Original town plans did envisage dual carriageways for the spine roads and made layout provision for them. Probably there was a decision to defer this until traffic load demanded it; a reasonable late-1940s budgetary decision now ripe for revision.

This decision would have been made by the Harlow Development Corporation to which the government had delegated autonomy. HDC records may still exist and could reveal the discussions leading to the dualling being deferred.

Mr Mooney also asserts that original plans included fairly generous parking provision in residential areas. Again, any subsequent decision to reduce the parking-to-housing ratio, would have been made by HDC.

Whether this was made as a corporate decision by HDC to maximise housing, as Mr Mooney suggests, is interesting.

In my understanding, the inadequate parking provision has always been blamed on a lack of foresight by Sir Frederick Gibberd of an impending car-owning explosion. A picture has been painted that he envisaged everybody going to work by bicycle for the foreseeable future.

In line with this belief is the fact that a factory at Pinnacles intended as an aircraft factory but actually first occupied by Corsor had a parking lot at the side laid out for bicycles and motorcycles with just a few car spaces at the front of the building for the executives.

So is the parking crisis in the residential areas a result of a corporate HDC decision based on things like perceived costs and a critical national housing demand or on the misconception of the future of personal transport?

As a final thought, I wonder how current decisions will be viewed in 70 years time such as why ever did they keep prevaricating over building a northern link road?

G.H. Chase

We're not all online savvy

SIR Having received a parking ticket this morning, I realised that my yearly parking permit had expired. I never received a reminder to renew it.

I got on the phone and was told that it must be renewed online using the reference number on the renewal letter. Not everyone knows how to get online, especially the older population.

I now have to wait three working days to get this number to get my new parking permit, so where do I park in the meantime?

Shouldn't we get some say in how these schemes are run instead of being dictated to?

I feel for my elderly neighbours who are already frustrated by the £1.50 daily tickets for their visitors. We need some kind of feedback to see how this affects people.

Harlow still a hotspot for first-time homebuyers

Properties around town represent great value for money says agent

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A NEW survey suggesting property in Harlow is both expensive and scarce are not borne out by the facts, according to one of the town's estate agents.

Statistics released by the internet-based market research firm YouGov showed Harlow to have a shortfall of 149 homes, with the 200 properties built last year insufficient to meet the 349 needed.

Among the cheaper properties in the town, the average house price was said to be £155,000. This ranked Harlow as the 16th most expensive town for first-time buyers in the east of England.

However, Ben Johnson, a director of estate agency Reyland Johnson, said Harlow is still the cheapest town around.

"Harlow is still affordable for first time buyers as prices are much more affordable than in the surrounding areas," he said.

"Recently there was a five-bedroom house on the market and from the 19 people who went for a viewing, I think 13 or 14 were first-time buyers. The majority of those who made an offer were looking for their first house."

"I think Harlow is fantastic value for money and with houses on the market it is a great option for anyone looking to buy their first home."

He added: "While house prices have gone up, it is now easier to get a mortgage, and I think a lot of young people are able to get help from their parents."

"The landscape is very positive for a first-time buyer."

The YouGov survey found that an overwhelming 87 per cent of 18-34 year-olds said they believed it was harder for their generation to get on the housing ladder in Britain.

National shortfalls in the number of properties available has led to housing charity Shelter calling on the Government to do more to help.

However, recent housebuyer

Lisa Alderman said the cheaper housing situation in Harlow persuaded her to move to the town from nearby Ware.

Ms Alderman, 45, of Hull Grove, said: "This is the first property I have owned in Harlow. I used to not like the town when I was growing up but I can now appreciate you get great value."

"I bought a one-bedroom house in a nice community bubble in this area and this is definitely the cheapest place I could find in the area where you could commute to London."

"The price of this house was well below surrounding areas. Even just two miles outside of Harlow you could be paying a lot more. For the same money I could only afford a flat in Ware."

"Everything is on your doorstep and you couldn't really ask for more. I think the town does have a lot to offer."

Grimebusting teams on the way to clean up rail station

HARLOW Town station will be among the first to benefit from an enhanced cleaning programme being introduced by Abellio Greater Anglia.

The train operator, which runs services on the West Anglia line between Liverpool Street and Cambridge, is investing more than £300,000 to improve the environment and surroundings at 23 stations over the next year, with more to be added to the programme at a later date.

The extra focus on cleanliness will see teams of specialist cleaners descend on stations. They will carry out a thorough cleaning of grime in all areas, including glazing and signage, in addition to the usual cleaning routines.

As well as Harlow Town, the other stations to benefit over the next 12 months will include, Bishop's Stortford and Stansted Airport.

DEEP CLEAN: Specialist teams will set to work at Harlow Town station

Andrew Goodrum, customer services director for Abellio Greater Anglia, said: "With thousands of people passing through our stations every day, it is really important that our cleaning regime is efficient and effective."

"This new programme has been designed so that we achieve the highest standards of cleanliness and improve our customers' experience at some of the busiest stations across our network."

SCENE OF HORROR: The house where the family died

INQUIRY: Three years on from incident, officer says Police renew appeal on blaze that killed mother and five young children

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

ANSWERS to an investigation into a fire that killed six members of one family "lie within the community", Essex Police has said.

Three years after Sabah

Usmani and her five children died in the blaze in Barn Mead, the force has renewed its appeal for information. Dr Usmani's husband, Dr Abdul Shakoor, was the only survivor.

Detective superintendent Rob Vinson of Kent and Essex Serious

Crime Directorate, said: "Three years have passed and we are desperate to find answers for Dr Shakoor."

"A mother and her five children lost their lives in this fire. A father lost his wife and children. This is still an active investigation and we are determined to do everything we can."

"We have said right from the start that the answer to this case lies within the community of Harlow," he added.

Dr Usmani and her children Hira, 12, Sohaib, 11, Muneeb, nine, Rayyan, six and three-year-old Maheen Shakoor died on October 15, 2012, as a result of the fire which swept through the ground floor of their terraced home in the early hours.

Smoke

The blaze, which experts have said may have reached temperatures of 800C, sent thick, choking smoke through the premises.

Dr Shakoor leapt from an upstairs window and suffered severe smoke inhalation as he fought to save his family.

At an inquest last year, Essex

BURNT OUT: Mystery car

coroner Caroline Beasley-Murray recorded an open verdict.

Chelmsford Coroners' Court heard that all the evidence pointed towards murder, but firefighters could not rule out an accidental cause.

Essex Police have been baffled by the turn of events which they consider one of their most difficult inquiries.

One line of inquiry was that the fire started during a burglary. A car was found burnt out a few yards from the house has also been described as a possibly linked incident.

"I would urge anybody who knows anything to come forward."

APPEAL: Detective superintendent Rob Vinson

answer lies in the Harlow community

FAMILY DAY: Sabah Usmani and her five children died in the fire that engulfed their home in Barn Mead

Don't hold anything back as even a small piece of information could help us unlock the answers and find the person or persons responsible," said DS Vinson.

"If you don't feel comfortable talking to the police you can speak to independent charity Crime-stoppers anonymously. There will be somebody that will hold the key to unlock this case."

He added: "We're three years down the line and situations may have changed, families and relationships break down, this could bring someone forward. I firmly believe, given that Harlow is a close-knit community; that the answer lies within that community.

"A mother and her five children lost their lives in this fire. A father lost his wife and children. This is still an active investigation and we are determined to do everything we can.

"It's affected the whole community in Harlow and local people are still coming to terms with what happened."

The family came to the UK from Pakistan in 2009 and moved to their Harlow home in 2011.

Police have urged anyone with information to contact the Serious Crime Directorate by calling 101 or to phone independent charity CrimeStoppers on 0800 555111. A £10,000 reward is still on offer.

GCSE results fall in four out of five town schools

Only Mark Hall improves on 2014 result

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

RESULTS tables released this week by the Department of Education following this summer's GCSE exams show a dip in the overall performances of students in Harlow.

Figures for pupils achieving five GCSE at grades A*-C including English and maths reveal that four out of the town's five mainstream secondary schools recorded lower scores than last year.

Only Mark Hall Academy improved on its percentage pass rate for 2014.

Burnt Mill Academy has the highest percentage of students achieving the benchmark standard, but at 74 per cent the figure was down by eight per cent.

Results for Passmores Academy, Stewards Academy and St Mark's West Essex Catholic School also fell over the past 12 months.

The performance of pupils at Mark Hall Academy, where the figure jumped from 35 per cent to 43 per cent was welcomed by headteacher Corrine Franceschi.

"This was a failing school two years ago but since I took over and Mark Hall became an academy we have risen," she said.

"This is a phenomenal achievement. Results like these show we are on the right trajectory, making improvements year on year.

"We are no longer a failing school."

Despite the results, Burnt Mill Academy was the only Harlow school to feature in the top 100 comprehensive schools nationwide based on GCSE performance.

The Thomas Telford School, in Telford, was ranked number one, while Bishop's Stortford High School was 10th on the list compiled by The Daily Telegraph.

While the national percentage of pupils achieving the benchmark fell from 53.4 per cent to 52.8 per cent, the figure for schools in Essex rose from 56.5 per cent to 57.6 per cent.

Cllr Ray Gooding, Essex County Council's cabinet member for education and lifelong learning, said: "I'm delighted to see the county schools bucking the national trend and continuing to achieve improved results.

"Pupils and staff have worked incredibly hard and should be very proud of their efforts.

"As a council we remain committed to ensuring pupils receive the best possible education."

Club joins ranks of FA standard bearers

A YOUTH football club in Harlow has scored success off the pitch after being awarded the FA Charter Standard Club Award.

Frontiers Youth FC, which plays its home matches at Church Langley playing fields, was formed in 2009 by Paul Kinggett and Guy Watson. It now has more than 300 members, making it one of the biggest clubs in the town with players aged from five-18.

Frontiers also runs two men's sides, giving the youngsters the chance to continue playing after leaving the youth team set-up, and during the past two years it has developed girls' football and now has teams competing in the Essex County Girls League.

Partnership

It is also working in partnership with South East Harlow Sports and Youth Association to link football, cricket, tennis with other youth and community activities on the Church Langley site and has recently secured funding from the Grass Roots Foundation to assist the development of the girls' teams and to retain the older boys within the game.

The FA award, which recognises standards of coaching, administration and child protection, was presented to Mr Kinggett and Mr Watson by Harlow MP Robert Halfon and Essex County Football Association representatives Emma Burden and Danielle Warnes. Also present were Harlow Council chairman Tony Hall and local councillor Simon Carter.

Mr Kinggett and Mr Watson described the award as a milestone in the club's short history, adding: "Days like this make all the hard work worth the while and our thanks go to all the children, our coaches and volunteers whose dedication, passion and commitment has made this possible."

Bungalow fire probe

ROYDON: An investigation to discover the cause of a fire at a bungalow in Roydon will be held by police and the fire service.

Two crews from Harlow fire station were called to Reeves Lane in Roydon shortly after 10.30pm on Sunday.

On arrival they found the property was 60 per cent alight. Firefighters wearing breathing apparatus used three hose reel jets to extinguish the fire by 12.52am.

Unemployment down

HARLOW: Unemployment has fallen by three per cent since last month, latest figures show.

The statistics released on Wednesday show that 1,045 people in Harlow claimed Job Seekers Allowance in September, 36 fewer than in August. The overall number has fallen by 25 per cent from this time last year.

Family man Jay was 'loved by everyone'

Young father died after motorbike crashed into post

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

TRIBUTES have been paid to a young father with a great sense of cycle crashed into a lamppost.

Officers on patrol found Jay Morton injured in Southern Way on Friday, October 2. They gave him CPR until ambulance crews arrived but the 24-year-old later died in hospital from his injuries.

On behalf of Mr Morton's family, his partner of four years Nicola Stripp paid tribute to the "family man", who lived for the couple's 18-month-old daughter Ella-Grace.

"All he wanted was to provide the best he could for me and Ella-Grace," she said.

"Everybody loved him - nobody had a bad word to say about him, and he never had a bad word to say about anyone else.

"He had a great sense of humour, and was always smiling. Anyone who met Jay for just ten minutes immediately liked him.

"Jay had a relentless energy, which our daughter has inherited along with his personality."

"Jay loved golf and football. He played for a team in Barking, where he used to live, and also played for New Town Rangers in Harlow," Nicola added.

"He will be very sadly missed by us both and his many friends and family, including his brothers Steve, Jamie and Daniel and sisters Ellie and Bobbi.

"We would like to thank everyone for the messages and support we have received, and tributes to Jay, which have been overwhelming."

Mr Morton's funeral took place on Tuesday.

Watch

Miss Stripp is also keen to locate Mr Morton's silver Boss watch, similar to the one pictured right, which he is believed to have been wearing but has not yet been found.

She said: "It's all he had that I could pass on to Ella-Grace and it seems to have gone missing as we cannot find it anywhere.

"He always wore it and I really want to have it back for our daughter."

Anyone who has found the watch is asked to contact DS Damon Bainbridge at the Serious Collision Investigation Unit on Essex Police's non-emergency 101 number or email collisionappeal@essex.pnn.police.uk.

MP meets bosses of train firm to discuss proposals

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon has met with bosses of train operator Abellio Greater Anglia to discuss it plans to improve services.

Speaking afterwards, Mr Halfon said rail services will be even more important as Harlow grows as a hub for innovation, enterprise and scientific research.

Abellio has drawn up a plan to improve the services through improvements to trains and infrastructure, while a new system of Smart Cards will be introduced.

Due to be introduced next year, the cards will allow commuters to top up payments for regular journeys in a pay-as-you-go style system.

The company has also committed itself to refurbishing one train per week for the rest of this year, while Roydon station will also have a makeover.

Mr Halfon added: "In all, 91 per cent of trains are now running on time or within five minutes of their scheduled departure time.

"This is higher than the national average of 89 per cent but Abellio has made it simpler for customers to claim compensation if people are affected by these delays.

"There are now online forms that can be completed and submitted a lot easier without the hassle of having to fill in a paper form at the railway station."

Families invited for crafty fun

CHURCH LANGLEY: The Kiddi Caru nursery opened its doors to families for Family Friendly Week.

Parents, grandparents, aunts, uncles, brothers and sisters were invited to the nursery to spend time with the little one and take part in some arts and crafts.

Activities included model making, painting, drawing and sticking.

The centre-piece of the week was a family craft afternoon.

Family Friendly Week was organised by the Family and Childcare Trust to encourage families to use mealtimes as a way of spending time together.

Nursery manager Vania Farinha said: "Families are so important but with our busy lifestyles these days it can be quite difficult for them to spend quality time together."

"As well as spending a week focusing on family, we thought it would be a great idea to use the nursery as a location where the children's families can get together for a few hours."

Breakfast bids

HARLOW: Schools in the town could win up to £1,500 by entering the national Breakfast Club Awards.

Cereal giant Kellogg's has invited the town's schools to throw their name into the ring for the competition.

Breakfast clubs are becoming increasingly popular and 86 per cent of schools in the east of England now have one.

Winners will also be invited to attend an awards ceremony at the Houses of Parliament.

■ To find out more about each of the categories and to submit a Breakfast Club entry, visit www.kelloggs.co.uk/breakfastclubawards.

New labs to help students' classes start with a bang

Official opening of school science block

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

A NEW science laboratory block will help students to reach for the stars at a Harlow secondary school.

The new labs at Stewards Academy in Parnall Road, Harlow, have just been officially opened, with headteacher Rhona Murthar cutting the ribbon.

They contain the latest and best equipment for science classes including a set of touch-screen whiteboards.

In addition, a new dining hall has been constructed below the labs with the architecture designed to be in keeping with the rest of the school, which was built in 1963.

The complex has been used by students since the start of term in September. Ms Murthar said she was pleased to officially present the new block to governors and invited guests.

"I want this school to have the best facilities it possibly can," she told them.

"With the design I wanted to keep the exterior looking as much as possible like the existing building. I think we have done a remarkable job of getting it to look like the old building. It all blends in beautifully well."

She added: "We have worked

very hard to achieve it, we have had 650 people here every day working hard. If you've been part of creating something that is going to help the next generation of children, and you end up with a design that you're very pleased with – I think you should feel very proud of what you have achieved."

The classrooms were self-funded by Stewards, and Ms Murthar praised the contribution of people who helped to make their dream a reality.

"This is something we've worked towards for a very long time. I would like to thank those in the finance team, as without them this would not have been possible."

"I would also like to thank the governors who supported it as well as the caretaking team who do an amazing job as well."

Head of science Russell Perrin, who joined Ms Murthar at the ceremony, said: "I want to thank the contractors for putting up with me and my high standards."

"In recent years as a school we have been a victim of our own success. Our successes have led to increasing pressure on our resources and our teaching space."

"This new facility will make our job a lot easier to do through having the latest technology in this room."

SHOULD I CLAIM FOR MY INJURY?

Dear Esther, I was stationary in my car at the traffic lights when another car smashed into the back of me. I suffered severe back pain and whiplash for months. Should I make a compensation claim?

job after school.

However, 85 per cent of parents asked had confidence the UTC was preparing their child for work in the best way possible.

Seven in ten (70 per cent) said the UTC had made their child more confident of getting a job.

The figures made good reading for principal Michael McKeaveney, who praised the college's ability to match students with jobs.

He said: "The fact that UTCs are established with industrial partnerships from the start where the culture of industry and business is inculcated through the curriculum will pay dividends for the young people in the future."

Titanic task is accomplished

PUPILS relived one of the most infamous nights in maritime history during a drama workshop.

Youngsters in Year 6 at Roydon Primary School, in Epping Road, Roydon, took part a one-day workshop looking at the fateful night of April 15, 1912 when the ocean liner Titanic hit an iceberg on its maiden voyage to New York and sank with the loss of more than 1,500 lives.

The workshop, by One Day Creative, challenged the children to learn, create and perform a show based around the tragedy.

Year Six teacher Laura Spring said: "We have been learning about the Titanic since the start of term so it was a chance for the children to show off their knowledge and to sequence the events which led up to the sinking."

"They reacted to the challenge brilliantly. They worked hard to remember their lines and to put it all together into one cohesive performance.

"We were impressed with how quickly the children pulled together their performance and how well they remembered their parts. They did a fantastic job."

Parents and the rest of the school were invited to watch the 20-minute performance.

Criminal goings-on at academy...

A CRIME scene was set up at Cook Spinney Primary Academy to kick-start a term of learning about detectives.

Parents and children watched on as caretaker Pete Stead was taken away by police as part of the school's latest Wow day.

At the start of each new topic, the school holds Wow days to inspire pupils for the lessons ahead.

For Year 3, this term's topic is detectives and Det Insp Rob Huddleston and PCSO Phyllis Chipchase were on hand to help.

Head of school Stuart Pope said: "The children arrived to find a crime scene in the hall. They carried out fingerprint analysis, chromatography, shoe scrapings, interviews and stakeouts throughout the day and matched the results to a number of us who were suspects.

"We had to act suspiciously all day, while Year Three were on alert and questioning our every move."

Pure exhaustion for charity fundraisers

FITNESS fanatics combined their gruelling workouts for a good cause in a sponsored 12-hour charity day.

Managers at PureGym in College Square, Harlow, invited members and their friends to test their fitness levels and dig deep into their pockets for the Royal Brompton Hospital in London.

For 12 hours on Monday, at least two spinning bikes were in constant use, with one member electing to ride the whole 12 hours.

The gym, which opened earlier this year, chose to support the hospital in honour of member Haley Greenwood, who is to have heart surgery there in December.

General manager Simon McConnell said: "It was absolutely superb, we don't know how much was raised but it was an absolute success. There was a great spirit."

"All the members that came enjoyed it and it was nice to see Haley and her family there."

Simon was also part of a team to complete a 41,920m rowing machine marathon and said the gym was hoping to organise a fun run in Harlow in the future.

Ooh la la! Ladies to dance again for a good cause

Group raising funds for children's hospice

William Mata

THE frills and thrills of cabaret are back for the fourth annual Harlow charity burlesque night.

Burlesque Jems Cabaret Student Showcase has become an annual fundraising event and this year the proceeds will be donated to the Little Havens children's hospice.

Last year, the night raised more than £650 and group leader Jem Ayers has accepted the challenge to perform for a fourth time.

Harlow ladies, of all ages, abilities, shapes and sizes will take to the floor of the Great Parndon Community Association, Abercrombie Way on Saturday.

An audience of more than 200 is expected to fill the GPCA for four hours of dancing as well as a bar, cake stall and craft fair selling items made around Harlow.

Six dance classes of women will perform the daring routines from 7.30pm.

Mrs Ayers said the group has raised their game for the fourth installment and audiences can expect shaking, feathers and some outrageous moves.

"We're back with another glitter filled event in the form of a cabaret student showcase," she said. "The 2015 cabaret is a great way of showcasing what we do best."

SHAKE IT OFF: Burlesque Jems to raise money for Little Havens

"All the women who take part have had an amazing time preparing for it. For many of them it will be their first time performing in front of their family and friends."

"The women who attend Burlesque Jems have found that as well as gaining dance skills they have been extraordinarily empowered and found new levels of confidence."

The troop are hoping to raise as much as possible for Little Havens, which has helped more than 1,300 youngsters since opening as the first children's hospice in the south east 17 years ago.

Mrs Ayers added: "We are so pleased to be raising money for such a worthwhile charity."

"Little Havens is based in beautiful meadowland in Thundersley near Rayleigh and is a sanctuary for families with children affected by life threatening illness."

Fire safety warning for Hallowe'en revellers

RESIDENTS planning Hallowe'en celebrations are being urged to take care by Essex fire chiefs.

Every year children and adults are injured in accidents involving candles or fireworks which can set light to hair, fancy dress costumes and decorations. The advice issued this week by the Essex County Fire and Rescue Service includes:

- Use flickering LED candles rather than real candles in pumpkins;
- Make sure fancy dress costumes and masks are labelled as flame-resistant;

■ Be careful in choosing which materials to use for homemade costumes;

■ Keep children away from naked flames;

■ Make sure candles are extinguished before you go to bed;

■ Do not overload electronic sockets

ECFRS divisional officer Neil Fenwick said: "Every year on Hallowe'en many adults and children are injured in accidents where lighted candles or fireworks have come into contact with costumes."

Help us find those responsible for shocking injuries to Bruce

FLASHBACK: Last week's Star

WE have had a very busy couple of weeks at the branch and the one thing everyone wants to know about is the condition of Bruce, the bearded dragon who was repeatedly kicked like a football by a group of youngsters in a park in Harlow.

I'm glad to confirm that Bruce is doing well and although not fully recovered from his injuries, which he may never do, at this stage we are hopeful they will not be life-threatening.

We are once again asking anyone who has any information regarding this terrible incident to get in touch with us.

into our care. Her owners were elderly and found having a lively puppy was just too much for them to look after.

Molly is only five months old, very friendly and full of beans. She loves to play and is happy in the company of other cats and dogs. She does need some basic training but she is very quick to learn.

If you feel she may be the dog for you, all her details and application process can be found on our website at www.rspcastortvalley.org.uk

■ WE have around 50 animals in our care at the moment and feeding them all can be a challenge.

We survive on the public's food donations. Our donation bins are located in Tesco at Church Langley, Jollies and Sainsburys. You can also donate directly to our clinic in The Stow.

All types of food are greatly appreciated but we especially need cat food.

■ At this time of year we receive lots of calls regarding sick and injured wildlife.

If you find any sick or injured animals our advice is put them in a box or small container and take them to the nearest vet. All vets have a duty of care to see any wildlife free of charge.

If the animal is too large or cannot be handled, you can call our emergency number on 0300 1234 999.

RSPCA Stort Valley branch, 23 The Stow, Harlow. Telephone (01279) 306058 or email rspca.stortvalley@ntlbusiness.com

Dream of owning your own home? Then Right to Buy could open the door for you

IF YOU CAN SAY 'YES' TO THESE STATEMENTS...

I am a council tenant (or) I was a council tenant when my home was sold to my current landlord

I have been a tenant for at least 3 years

I don't live in sheltered housing or other housing particularly suitable for elderly or disabled people

...YOU COULD NOW BE ELIGIBLE FOR A DISCOUNT OF UP TO £77,900

RIGHT to Buy is the scheme that helps eligible council and housing association tenants to buy their home at a discount on the market value. Since discounts were increased in 2012, more than 35,000 people in England have become homeowners through the Right to Buy scheme. Could this be the right time for you – or somebody you know – to join them?

You can get a maximum of 70 per cent off the price of your home – up to a cash value of £77,900, or £103,900 in London. Each year this discount increases by the rate of inflation.

Recent changes in eligibility mean you now only need to be a secure council tenant for three years instead of five before you can apply to buy your home. So now could be the ideal time to take that next step.

Buying your home is a life-changing decision and a commitment you shouldn't make without seeking expert impartial advice. First you need to find out whether you're eligible and if you can afford it.

Who qualifies for the Right to Buy?

If you're a tenant and can answer 'yes' to the following questions, then you are likely to be eligible to buy your current home through Right to Buy:

■ Are you currently a council tenant or were you living in your home when the council transferred it to another landlord (usually a housing association)?

■ Have you been a council or housing association tenant for three years or more?

■ Can you confirm that you do not live in sheltered housing or other housing designed for elderly or disabled people?

Tenants also need to be free from legal problems with debt or outstanding possession orders, and your home mustn't be due to be demolished.

The Government has plans to extend Right to Buy. If you're a housing association tenant and currently not eligible for Right to Buy you can sign up to receive updates on the scheme by visiting our Right to Buy website. You can also look at other government schemes that might help you on www.ownyourhome.gov.uk.

What to do next

If you want to find out more about buying your home and whether you're eligible for a discount through Right to Buy, have a look at our website. There is a simple quiz to check if you might be eligible, an easy-to-use calculator to help you work out if you can afford to buy and lots of practical tips about the buying process.

If you decide to go ahead you will need to fill in the application form and take the process forward with your landlord.

Support from start to finish

There is plenty of guidance available to help you decide if it's the right choice for you. You're not on your own.

With the Government's official Right to Buy adviser service you can get free and impartial advice as well as the help and support you need throughout the process of buying your home from filling in the application form to completing your purchase – if you decide it's the right choice for you. The advisers can provide information on finding a mortgage, appointing a solicitor and arranging a survey.

If you are midway through buying and have a problem, get in touch with the adviser service and they can help you.

The advisers are available from Monday to Friday, 8am until 6pm. You can telephone, email or chat online.

FIRED UP: Community fundraiser Dani De'ath, fundraising manager Dominique Brunning, hospice chaplain Rev Marion Williams, fundraising administrator Nikki Hill and clinical nurse specialist Erica Martin

Daredevils invited to hotfoot it to a fundraising stunt in aid of hospice

CALLING all courageous soles... are you brave enough to conquer the coals for St Clare Hospice? Fundraisers are planning to hold a sponsored firewalk next month with a promise that those who take part one will experience one of the "most memorable journeys" they will ever undertake.

Jade Clarke, challenge events fundraiser for St Clare, said: "Man's fascination with fire goes back thousands of years. While it is tempting to look at firewalking and explain it with physics, that is not enough to dispel the primal fear caused by the feeling of intense heat on your face as you stand at the edge of the fire pit.

"Participants will need to fight all their survival instincts to take the first step on this thrilling challenge."

The barefoot walk over red-hot wood embers takes place on Saturday, November 14. Registration costs £25 per person and participants are asked to raise at least £150 in sponsorship.

The firewalk will take place at the Mantle Business Centre near Stansted Airport and is being sponsored by RecruitAbility and Bolt & Heeks Construction.

To sign up, visit www.stclarehospice.org.uk, call Jade on (01279) 773750 or email or jade.clarke@stclarehospice.org.uk.

County council appoints £195k chief executive

Former Swindon boss to take up post

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertssexnews.co.uk

THE new chief executive of Essex County Council will take up the reigns of power at County Hall in January on an annual salary of the £195,000.

Gavin Jones, who is currently in charge at Swindon Borough Council, is regularly voted one of the most influential leaders in local government.

ECC leader Cllr David Finch said Mr Jones will bring with him a wealth of experience.

"Following a thorough and robust recruitment process, I am delighted to announce Gavin will be taking on what is one of the biggest and most challenging roles in local government," said Cllr Finch.

"At Swindon, he helped turn round the council, gaining a reputation for organisational development, partnership working and innovation. He has also held high-profile positions in the private sector, working for global companies within the telecommunications, travel and IT industries."

Mr Jones joined Swindon Council in 2003 as deputy, working alongside the interim boss to help stabilise what was at that time a failing authority. Since his appointment to the top job three years later, he has driven a programme of improvement and transformation, helping to save more than £300m.

Prior to taking up the role at Swindon, Mr Jones worked in a variety of roles across the private sector. He was listed as one of the top 50 New Radicals in the Observer's national campaign for Britain's most innovative leaders.

Mr Jones said: "Essex is a fabulous county, rich in history but forward-looking. During the recruitment process it quickly became clear to me that the council's elected members, staff and partners are not only passionate about their county but also ambitious for its future, and are absolutely focused on improving the lives of all Essex residents."

"I am very much looking forward to playing my part in that. I will bring commitment and energy to the role, and I know that in working collaboratively with a wide range of partners and stakeholders we have the ability to build on what has already been achieved and give the county an increasingly prosperous future."

AHHH, Christmas dinner. Just thinking those words conjures up images of succulent roast turkey, crispy potatoes, pigs in blankets, stuffing and lashings of gravy.

It's a time to enjoy good food, great company and a generous helping of festive spirit.
Or is it?

For the poor old person doing the cooking, it can end up being a hot, sweaty, stressful experience that can almost ruin the big day.

And there's a host of other potential problems to consider if you're doing the catering at Christmas.

Have you got enough room for everyone? Are there enough chairs? How are you going to cater for the vegetarians and vegans and fussy old Uncle Ron who won't eat vegetables?

If just the thought of cooking Christmas dinner brings you out in a cold sweat, then why not consider dining out for Christmas?

Although going out to eat on December 25 is more common than ever before, there are still people who are a bit reluctant to go over to the other side.

So what are the main benefits of eating out at Christmas?

Less shopping

Christmas food shopping can be hectic. You have to start planning it weeks ahead, it sometimes feels like you're reserving your turkey when the summer is barely spent.

But then there's all the vegetables and fresh ingredients that can only be bought a few days, resulting in last-minute panic buying and squabbles in the aisles over the last, withered-looking sprouts.

If you're not naturally organised, then the Christmas shop can be a nightmare. You end up scouring the aisles for sold-out after dinner mints and end up with cartoon crackers for the elderly relatives because that's all that was left.

If you eat out, you can cut a considerable chunk from your shopping chores.

Less preparation

Preparing Christmas dinner really is the stuff of sit-coms.

One poor old devil usually gets up about 5am to squeeze the giant turkey into the oven. Someone has to volunteer to put their hand up the turkey's bottom, and just what do you do with those giblets?

Some people start chopping vegetables days before the family are due to arrive.

In the lead-up to the big feast, the kitchen can be a den of heat, stress and swearing.

But if you dine out, you can avoid all of this chaos and just sit back with a glass of something sparkling while others do the hard work for you.

Cost

Although dining out might not be cheap, the cost of home catering for a huge family Christmas really does add up, and often it's one household which foots the bill.

If a big group of you agree to eat out, then everyone can pay for their own share, so alleviating the financial pressure on the poor hosts.

What's better than a Christmas at home?

If everyone can afford it, it's a fairer way of doing things.

Better choice

Cooking Christmas dinner is hard enough, before you've factored in everyone's personal tastes and dietary requirements.

There's always at least one vegetarian and no one wants a nut roast do they? So you feel obliged to come up with something fancy.

There are also vegans, people with food allergies and just a lot of fussy eaters to consider.

Half the population recoils at the sight of a sprout, while others prefer turkey, beef or duck – and you can't possibly cook all three can you?

When you eat out, there will almost always be a choice of meats, and a tasty veggie option too. So everyone is happy.

Nicer food

Let's face it, we're not all Jamie Oliver.

With the best will in the world, a fair few Christmas dinners have been spoiled by dry turkey, shrivelled sprouts and lumpy gravy.

As long as you do your research first, eating out at a restaurant should be a guaranteed treat for festive foodies.

These people cook en-masse every day of the year and they have the space and equipment to do it well.

Any half-decent chef is not going to serve up anything burnt or withered, whereas at home you might have no choice.

No mess or washing up

Oh the mess that cooking a big Christmas dinner creates!

One of the top benefits of eating out is that all that work is done for you. And when you get home your kitchen is as pristine as you left it.

There's burnt pans, greasy plates, spillages and a pile of washing up to make Mount Snowdon look small...all after that huge dinner when all you want to do is sit and relax with a sherry, you and an army of volunteers have to plough through all that housework.

By the time it's finished, half the relatives have nodded off in front of the TV and the only sweets left are the coffee creams.

Just remember to book early to avoid disappointment. . .

Artists examine how skin affects our lives

YOUNG artists Sian Matthews and Alice Freeman have drawn inspiration from a dark time for a new Harlow exhibition.

Skin: The Fragility of Form is an exploration into image and identity through a mixture of art styles.

Ten artists from Harlow and surrounding towns will be exhibiting their works at the exhibition at Gatehouse Arts, The High, Harlow until Saturday, October 31.

Sian, 22, who is from Northbrooks, Harlow, but now lives in Waltham Abbey, is a sufferer of severe atopic eczema.

She has faced a life-long struggle with her many allergies that cause her skin to develop lines that run down her body.

The condition sometimes leaves her bed-bound, as she is often unable to even move without her fragile skin tearing.

She said the nature of her condition led her to be taken for treatment at Guy's and St Thomas' Hospital in London last year.

Her friend Alice was shocked at Sian's appearance when she came to visit and that is where the idea for an exhibition started.

"The condition is quite debilitating and has left me with lots of scars," said Sian.

"It affects me every day and influences simple decisions about how I dress and how I go about life."

Sian's condition has improved since the stint in hospital and she is starting her third year at the University of Hertfordshire, where she studies fine art.

Now, Sian and Alice, who have been friends since their days at Passmores School in Harlow, are hoping to make good of a bad situation.

"Me and Alice both wanted to do an exhibition about skin," said Sian.

"It is a comment on how we see ourselves and about life in general. I have created a 3D body piece that will hang towards the entrance. I also have some etchings and photo prints displayed.

"There is a lot of figurative work as well and I would like to think it makes a comment about life and human relationships.

"While all of our friendship group have gone to university, we have all come back to Harlow, so eight of us from the area are involved – plus two of my friends from university who live further away.

"All of us have different styles and there is a huge variety on display from paintings, to sculpture to video art."

Alice, who has lived in Harlow all her life before moving to Southampton to study at university, is an aspiring magazine journalist who will present a collage.

Both of the girls are hoping to pursue a career in curating once they finish university and the partnership with Gatehouse Arts came about on a hunt for space through the town.

They are joined by: Charlie Dixon, Siobhan Ledden, Hillary Kidd, Melissa

Rogerson, Ryan Panchal, Charlotte Thompson, Abbie Freeman, Harry Watson and May Simpson.

Since starting work on the gallery in July, the young women have gathered a stunning collection of work from Harlow and beyond.

By opening the gallery between a Thursday and Saturday, Sian has been able to fit the commitments around her lecture and tutorial time at university.

She said she is excited about how the public will receive the work and is hopeful the exhibition will be a success.

"This is the first time I have ever exhibited any of my work outside of a university setting and also the first time in Harlow.

"I am very excited. I am very pleased with the exhibition and I think people will find it an interesting gallery to see.

"It has been quite lucky my timetable has allowed me to do it at this time of the year and I am looking forward to hearing the response."

Alice added: "For this exhibition, our work only goes skin deep. We see how the human body's largest organ can be the bane of one person's life and the makeup of another's career.

"We are hoping the artists will be present throughout the duration of the exhibition to provide extra insight on the works."

■ Skin: The Fragility of Form. The Group Exhibition by Sian Matthews and Alice Freeman is open now at the Gatehouse Art Gallery, The High, Harlow.

Gallery opening hours are Thursday-Saturday from 10am-3.30pm until Saturday, October 31.

Sean's magic dreams

A MAGICIAN never reveals his secrets, but Harlow sleight of hand artist Sean O'Neill has opened up about his alter-ego Rizla Dizla.

The prankster is now returning to the town with big ambitions to front his own TV show.

Sean, 35, from Rundells, Harlow, says he is happy to be home and can't wait to start blowing people's minds again with his slick moves.

"I only need a few split seconds," he says. "My work often is set in parties or group settings and I have no idea what kind of tricks I'm going to perform."

"I don't like to tell people to look away or anything while I do a trick. I'm more subtle than that and use more natural methods to set a distraction while I will work my moves."

"Different people are suited to different moves, but I often do target people who seem gullible or those who might doubt that I can pull something off."

Sean has just returned from a six-year stay in Spain where he was a DJ and magician regular at the famous Café Mambo in Ibiza. His ability to mingle and work a crowd often works well in a nightclub, party or restaurant setting, where he likes to blend in before making his move.

"I give people the impression that I'm just a normal person, they have no idea and suddenly I'll work a trick," he said. "The usual reaction is something like 'oh my God, who is this guy' and that's when my work begins."

"Sometimes I can deliberately get a trick wrong, or give the impression I've really messed up while I'm really working something bigger."

"There are a few signature tricks I have, but some I only save for special occasions. I don't like to do my best tricks all that much as they become less special if you do them all the time."

He added: "I'm known best for a trick I do where I put a cigarette through an item of clothing, but it went badly wrong once when I did actually burn a girl's dress. It was a bit embarrassing as they kept expecting me to fix the dress."

"The worst thing was I actually saw the same girl a couple of years later, and she remembered me. Luckily her friend let me try the trick on her, so I showed her that I could do it."

Sean is now living with his grandmother in Harlow. She is often the first to be the victim of any new tricks and is the guinea pig when he perfects his act before trying it out for real.

For the moment he is happy to perform where he can, but has ultimate ambitions of appearing on TV to emulate his heroes Paul Daniels and David Blaine.

"I have been doing magic for 31 years and I'm 35 now, so I guess I wasted the first four years of my life," he laughed. "I got into it when I was watching Paul Daniels on TV and was taken out to parties by my uncle where I was shown things."

"But it was a bit later when I actually considered how I wanted to do my own thing, and it was when I saw an advert for David Blaine's work that things changed. For the first time I saw it as being something you could do with your hands and it took individual skill – not just preparation or a prop that someone else made."

"I never use props. The only thing I tend to carry is a pack of cards." TV magicians now are kind of fake and people find it boring. No-one wants to see something that has been staged and produced to the extent that it isn't real anymore."

"I would love to have a late night show for an older audience, not necessarily something for families, at a time when people are going out or coming back in."

"My Rizla Dizla character is a bit confident and cocky, but it's all about an act to impress an audience. I only need a few split seconds."

Sean O'Neill aka Rizla Dizla is available to hire for parties and events to perform magic tricks and illusions. He can be contacted on (01279) 303070.

the show spirit

ONE of the country's top spiritualist mediums will be returning to Harlow next month.

Former hairdresser Steve Holbrook visits theatres and hotels around the country demonstrating his ability and passing on messages of reassurance to people who have lost their loved ones.

Steve said he was only five years old when became aware that life existed beyond the grave after waking up one night to find five soldiers marching through his bedroom.

"This was very unnerving experience, but it was to give me an early glimpse of what was to come and now it's as natural as breathing to me," he said.

However, Steve is mainly clairaudient – in other words, instead of seeing any kind of visual imagery he hears voices, which are sometimes in his head and sometimes as if a person is standing next to him whispering in his ear.

These voices can be crystal clear or they can be rather muffled, but either way he knows they are the voices of people who have passed on from this life to the next.

Steve worked in a busy hairdressing salon in Leeds city centre and believes the years he spent having personal contact with his customers provided the stimulation for his ability to hear the voices of spirits, enabling him to pass on messages from their loved one.

CRIMPER

"I often wonder if they kept coming back for my ability as a hair stylist or the possibility that they might receive a message from a relative who had passed away," he said.

One of his best friends is Jane MacDonald, co-presenter on ITV's Loose Women, who he first met at a spiritualist church many years ago.

He predicted she would appear on television as part of a cruise entertainment documentary, a prediction which came true a year later when she starred in BBC1's The Cruise.

She has since dedicated her autobiography to Steve, calling him her inspiration and guru.

WRITING

Over the years, he has raised tens of thousands of pounds for charities, including £50,000 for his local hospice, £5,000 for Macmillan Cancer Support and PACT, a charity that helps terminally ill children and their parents across the country.

■ Steve Holbrook will be appearing at the Park Inn in Southern Way, Harlow, on Monday, November 30.

Doors open at 6.30pm and the show starts at 7.30pm. Tickets cost £17 and are available by calling 08447 404526.

AUDI Q3 GETS A FACELIFT

AT A GLANCE

- Model: Audi Q3 2.0 TDi S line
- Price OTR: £29,740
- Engine: 1,968 cc, 4-cylinder, diesel
- Power: 150 PS
- Torque: 340 Nm at 1,750 - 2,800 rpm
- Transmission: Six speed manual, front wheel drive
- 0-62 mph: 9.3 seconds
- Top speed: 127 mph
- Economy: 61.4 mpg (combined)
- CO2 emissions: 119 g/km

TESTED Audi Q3 2.0 TDi S line

SMALL SUVs are all the rage these days and competition amongst manufacturers to keep their models fresh and appealing is fierce. Audi knows this and has duly revamped its popular Q3, which was first launched in 2011.

Prices for the face-lifted Q3 now range from £25,650 OTR to £36,045 OTR.

Revisions comprise exterior styling enhancements – including a new grille and revised xenon headlights and LED running lights, increased equipment levels and more efficient engines.

As before the model range comprises: SE, S line and S line plus. Visual changes include a new 3D-effect single-frame grille, revised bumpers and new alloy wheels. Revised headlights now feature xenon bulbs and LED daytime running lights as standard on SE versions, and these are complemented by new design LED tail lights.

S line and S line plus specification levels upgrade to all-weather LED headlights and dynamic 'scrolling' rear indicators which illuminate sequentially within two-tenths of a second from the inside out in the direction the driver intends to turn.

Tested here is the most popular model in the range – the 150 PS 2.0 TDi. There's plenty of easily accessible performance on tap, refinement levels are good, combined with a tax-friendly CO2 output of 119 g/km and a combined 61.4 mpg (two-wheel drive models).

340 Nm of torque, available from 1,750 and 2,800 rpm, also ensures that the Q3 pulls well from low speeds and is always tractable and smooth. Handling is capable, composed and safe and the Audi always feels assured and unruffled – even when driven aggressively.

Visibility is good to the front and sides, but average out the rear, due to fairly chunky C-pillars.

The Audi drive select adaptive dynamics system which was previously offered at extra cost is now fitted as standard, and enables the driver to adjust throttle response and steering weight, in addition to the firmness of the optional damper control system.

Features common to all versions include dual-zone climate control, a Concert audio system with 6.5-inch manually-retractable colour display screen, Bluetooth interface, Audi Music Interface iPod connection and light and rain sensors.

In the cabin there isn't a huge difference from its predecessor. The interior of this S Line trim car is a very nice place to be, with alcantara and leather upholstery.

True to Audi form, quality of all cabin materials is very high and the layout is a mastery of clean design and ergonomics.

The Q3's driving position is basically good, although it would be better if the steering column angle could go lower. Thankfully, seats are comfortable and supportive, with plenty of adjustment, including height adjustment on the passenger side.

Accommodation space is good, with sufficient leg and headroom in both the front and rear to comfortably fit taller occupants over 6ft.

There's plenty of storage room, too, with generously-sized cubbies dotted around the cabin and a sizeable 420-litre boot, extending to 1,325 litres with seats lowered.

Verdict: Mid-life facelift revisions help to further strengthen the appeal of Audi's highly-capable compact SUV and make for a convincing upgrade.

End of the road
for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles
at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer
your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

RAJ
KEY ACCOUNT MANAGER
AND SPECIAL CONSTABLE

THIS IS MY BEAT.

"The biggest surprise is realising what the public expect from you. When you turn up in uniform the public totally rely on your ability to control a situation. The work we do is so well-received in the community. It's a really positive reaction."

Become a Special like Raj, and you'll work alongside regular Police Officers doing everything regular Police Officers do. Patrolling the streets. Helping the public. Attending crime scenes. Arresting people. Above all, you'll provide a reassuring presence in your local area and help keep Hertfordshire safe.

So if you want to play a greater role in your community, you don't need to change jobs. You just need to be aged 18 or over, able to commit to the initial training required and willing to give up at least 16 hours of your free time a month.

SUCCESS: The triumphant Harlow Judo Club members

High and mighty at Wycombe

Judo

GOLD, silver and bronze medals were secured by a Harlow Judo Club trio in the Micklefield Green Belt & Below at High Wycombe.

Matthew Chapman, 11, returned with a gold after winning his contest.

Owen Lambert, nine, claimed silver and Thomas Lambert, 14, gained bronze.

With everyone medalling, it was still tough for those at the top.

Thomas, since going up to the next belt category, is yet to find his form in this new group.

However, it was a great result for the club given that there was fierce competition from very strong rivals.

The club took a different squad to compete in the Dartford Red, Yellow and Orange competition at Dartford in Kent.

They returned with a gold for Seth Horsley, eight, silver for Kensie Deamer, nine, and bronze for both Fionn Healy, nine, and Kane Horsley, ten.

"There was some lovely judo coupled with tough groups but this didn't stop them bringing home the medals," said club spokesperson Foong Lambert.

Overall the club's medal haul over the weekend was very impressive with every judoka medalling and also inspiring to the other young judokas at the club.

The club is based in Foldcroft, Harlow. For training times, visit www.harlowjudoclub.com

Harlow's joy in Braintree

Essex Hockey League,
Premier Division

Phoenix 3
Harlow 4

A HARLOW team recorded an impressive win over a Braintree side last weekend and Danny Chapman's Hawks will be looking to follow the example of the town's women's hockey team.

While the Ryman Football League side will be aiming to cause a massive upset in the FA Cup this Saturday, Emma Tweddle's brilliant Harlow Ladies showed the men how it needs to be done as they won a 4-3 thriller at Phoenix.

It was a super win as Phoenix could have climbed to second in the table had they won.

Harlow are now sixth after being in the bottom two for much of the campaign.

Shots from Charlotte Byers, Georgina Esterhuysen-Smith and Rowena Rickett were saved by the outstanding Phoenix goalkeeper.

Against the run of play Phoenix scored from close range.

Harlow were eventually rewarded for their hard work when Byers slotted home from close range, set up by Esterhuysen-Smith.

But when the ball bounced off Sam Care's stick, Harlow keeper Laura Hay was ambushed by a Phoenix forward who finished into an open goal.

After the break the visitors levelled when Lara Horrax' shot was deflected off a defender's stick into the goal.

The hosts then went 3-2 up when their forward completed a hat-trick.

After Hay made a smart save, Sue Thomas and Sam Care also combined to make a crucial stop virtually on the line.

But Harlow weren't to be beaten and the tenacious Byers scored her second of the game to even the scores.

Moments later she completed her hat-trick from what seemed an impossible angle to secure a fantastic win.

Son of Spurs cult star risks wrath of father

Hawks' German keeper was England fan at World Cup

by Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HAWKS keeper Niklas Freund has revealed he ignited the wrath of his famous German international football-playing father – by supporting England in the last World Cup.

Niklas, son of former Tottenham Hotspur favourite Steffen Freund, has lived in England since his father signed for the Londoners in the 1990s.

Now 21, Niklas has played for several non-league clubs, but joined Harlow Town in the summer and has quickly become a favourite among players and fans.

He is set to line up against Braintree Town on Saturday in the FA Cup fourth round qualifying.

The winners will go into the draw for the first round proper, when the likes of Sheffield United, Coventry and Millwall come into the competition.

Brazil

But in Brazil last year, Niklas' attentions were very much focused on Roy Hodgson's men.

"I moved here when I was four. This is my home. I am even an England supporter. I don't even support Germany in the World Cup. My dad hates me," he joked.

"I love England. The people are so open. It's a different atmosphere when you are here. Here it's a big family."

Niklas has relished every season he has played in the FA Cup, the world's oldest cup competition.

The furthest his father got was in 1998 when Tottenham lost to Newcastle United in the last four.

"I think he got to a semi-final once. I think it was against Newcastle in 1998. But he didn't have too much luck in the FA Cup," he said.

"For me it is one of the most prestigious cups in the world. If you do well in it, you don't know where you end up.

"The FA Cup is the cup for everybody. My dad loved it. But he only played two or three games every season."

Having played at Chelmsford and Witham, Niklas is enjoying his time at Harlow, particularly this season's FA Cup success.

He continued: "The club is great and we can go really far. It is going to be hard every round. We have to turn up every game. The motivation is clear. We want a game against a team in League One or League Two.

"The whole atmosphere of the FA Cup is magical. Anybody can beat anybody.

"Braintree is a great team but if we perform like we did against Bath then we can beat them.

"It's football. You never know what happens. If we fight together there are not many teams that can beat us.

"For us [at Harlow Town] we start so low.

"If you play at a Premier League ground like Tottenham in the third round, there's 40,000 people. The atmosphere is electric.

"That's something you aim for. They always say it happens once in your life and you have to work hard. I believe we can do it."

Niklas is convinced big things lie ahead for Harlow.

"The players can play in the Conference – I am convinced," he said.

"We just need to turn up and be consistent. We can beat League One teams. We need one of those great performances – we can beat anybody."

No league slip-up as Town win

Ryman North

Harlow Tn 2
Dereham Tn 0

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman was pleased his side were able to avoid an FA Cup hangover by defeating Dereham Town just four days after their heroics at Bath City.

Left-back Layne Eadie opened the scoring on the half-hour mark, scoring with a fantastic lob.

The game was still in the balance until three minutes from time when Junior Dadson scored after Joe Benjamin beat two players and delivered an excellent cross.

Harlow Town are ninth in the Ryman North table but only four points outside the play-offs with at least two games in hand on most teams.

Chapman said: "We had a fantastic week and it would have been easy to get wrapped up in that.

"We are enjoying the Cup but the main goal this year is to get promoted."

The Hawks boss was pleased to see Eadie get a goal. "For me he is the best full-back at this level by a country mile," he said.

"I put him in the bracket of the league above. I was delighted for him because he is the most consistent player – that's why he got the Manager's Player of the Year award last year. He deserved that goal."

Tuesday's league game at home to Thamesmead Town was postponed to give Harlow more preparation time for Saturday's FA Cup tie.

Leaders' 20 goals in five games

THE seaiders were left beached as table-topping Harlow continued their resurgence with a crushing victory.

Harlow sit top having bagged 20 goals in their first five games.

On a cold windy day next to the airport, Harlow took the lead inside five minutes.

Neat build-up play saw Stuart Kirk's shot saved, only to fall to Benn Hagger who slotted past the scrambling keeper.

On ten minutes, leading scorer Andy Boughtwood (pictured) netted his first of the match.

Picking up the ball on the Southendians' baseline, he unleashed a thunderbolt, which ricocheted off the keeper's helmet and into a top corner.

At 20 minutes Harlow earned a penalty corner, which Boughtwood fired towards a post for Luke Krzoska to deflect into the roof of the net.

Harlow started to relax a little and coasted into half-time three goals to the good, thanks to the reassuring presence of the defence.

On 55 minutes, Boughtwood replicated his first finish, although this time the Southend keeper wisely ducked his head to save any further concussion.

The final goal came six minutes later, with Boughtwood completing his hat-trick from a penalty corner, which was dispatched with authority into a bottom corner.

They face a tricky test away at Brentwood on Saturday where they will look to extend their lead at the top.

Big time for Big Cats

IT'S the biggest weekend of the season so far for Levett Essex Leopards as they face games in two competitions.

The Big Cats travel to Worthing Thunder on Saturday in the first game of their defence of the NBL Division One title before Westminster Warriors are the visitors to the Brentwood Centre on Sunday (4pm) for a National Cup third-round tie.

The game against Warriors will see a repeat of the National Trophy tie at Harlow that saw the visitors edge a tight game 68-64.

The Big Cats reached the last 16 with a comfortable 99-57 victory at Barking & Dagenham Thunder last Tuesday.

Saturday will see Leopards make their second trip in eight days to the south coast to face a side who have progressed in both the Trophy and Cup with a combined 5-2 record. The teams met on Saturday, and a depleted Leopards went down 92-85 to end their slim hopes of qualifying for the Trophy quarter-finals.

With coach Ogunjimi at a wedding, assistant coach Roger Malpass took just eight players to Worthing but was delighted with a fighting display.

He said: "We played really well, with the guys there showing great attitude, bags of attitude and lots of endeavour. It's hard to win with a 29-19 foul count and some key decisions going against you at crucial times."

Tosin Oyelese bagged a 14-point haul.

Sonko: 'We must believe'

■ From back page

Sonko says anything can happen in the cup, with the winners moving into the first round proper where they could meet the likes of Sheffield United, 1987 winners Coventry City or even Harlow chief executive Tom Cunningham's old club Leyton Orient.

"We know it's going to be tough. If we are there it means we have done well. Some people say in the league they [Braintree] are in a great position, but it is 90 minutes," said Sonko.

"The one who gets lucky can win it. Sometimes you have to create your own luck. Go there and make sure everything is in your favour."

"That's what we have got to do. We will say 'we know that you want it but we want it twice as much as you'."

Harlow last reached the first round proper in 2008 when they lost to Macclesfield Town – then in the Football League – in front of nearly 2500 fans.

Sonko, who signed for Stoke for £2m after leaving Reading in 2008, has not progressed to the latter stages of the FA Cup, but still has fantastic memories of the world's greatest domestic cup competition.

Sonko added: "It's an exciting time for the club, the players, the manager, the people who have put so much into the club – it is one step away."

"There's one more game to go. It's going to be hard. If we respect them and play our level, hopefully we can go through."

"We know we can concede silly goals and we can miss clear chances also. But if we can push each other, we can go far."

Emirates FA Cup fourth round qualifying preview - Braintree Town v Harlow Town

Former fans' favourite

Davis relishes reunion

Iron midfielder's happy memories of time at Harlow

by Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertsexnews.co.uk

FORMER Hawks favourite Kenny Davis is relishing Saturday's FA Cup tie against his old side as he looks to build on Braintree Town's impressive start to the season.

The 27-year-old central midfielder had three successful years, making 138 appearances and scoring 13 goals at Harlow Town, helping the team to promotion to the Ryman Premier Division under then player-boss Ryan Kirby.

He played in the same side as current Harlow manager Danny Chapman, a centre-half in the successful team between 2004-07.

Davis was at the club when it moved from its old Sportcentre ground to the plush stadium now known as The Harlow Arena.

The hard-working and skilful midfielder is a black cab driver. He has been at Cressing Road for five years, but never forgets his roots and always looks for Harlow's score on a matchday.

"It will be fantastic to play Harlow but it's the FA Cup, it's 11 v 11 and on the day it's going to be a tough game for both teams. We will take nothing for granted," he said.

Watching

"We have got to do a job. We are not taking our foot off the gas. We have been watching Harlow on DVDs and we know we have to get a result. We won't treat it any differently because it's Harlow Town."

"Me and my dad always look for the Harlow score to see how they got on. It was a great part of my career. I got promoted at Harlow."

"I was there three years and I played quite a few games, being young it was all part of my development."

"I haven't got a bad word to say about the club. We went to the new ground and that was a nice experience. I fully enjoyed my time there.

"I will look forward to talking to the fans after the game."

The Harlow side of that 2005-07

period was a fantastic team, with the club's record goalscorer Marc Salmon leading the attack.

The side won the Ryman Division One North Play-off final, beating AFC Sudbury on penalties.

"We had a brilliant team. We should have done even better when we went up. We held our own in the first season and stayed in the league [Ryman Premier]," said Davis.

"Salmon was a different class. He was a great man as well. I played with great players there. Hopefully they will get promotion this year."

"I have known [Harlow Town chief executive] Tom Cunningham since I was a kid, it was because of him that I went to Harlow."

Chapman also loved that time at the club, and remains friends with many of his old team-mates.

He said: "That was a fantastic side. One thing that side had was togetherness. I have not experienced anything like it as a player or as a manager."

"We were a strong unit. Some of them players are still my best friends, that tells a story in itself. "It will be a game for Kenny to remember."

Davis went on to play at Grays Athletic after leaving Harlow in 2007.

He was signed by then Braintree boss Rod Stringer, who took the club up to the Vanarama National League Premier.

After former West Ham United winger Alan Devonshire took charge, Davis's team finished just three points outside the play-off places as a place in the Football League came tantalisingly close in the 2013-14 season.

Former Harlow player Danny Cowley took charge in the summer and has already got the Iron into a strong position, just outside the play-offs.

Cowley played at Harlow from 1999-2002 under then manager and ex-Arsenal winger Ian Allison.

Hornets stung by late show

Essex Basketball League,
Division Two

Harlow Hawks 61
Thurrock Hornets 42

THE Hawks have made their best start to a campaign – and this continued with a 61-42 home win over Thurrock Hornets.

Acting Harlow coach Lee Morris was on the scoresheet with a fast break lay-up and a quick catch and shoot from a baseline inbound at the three-point line.

Rimantas Norkelinas split a pair of free throws to put the Hawks 7-6 ahead at the end of the first quarter.

Head coach Shab Niaz and Norkelinas hit a pair of three pointers together with some great mid-range jump shots from Tom White to give the Hawks an early nine-point advantage.

The Hornets fought back though, and the quarter ended 22-22.

The first six minutes of the third quarter saw both teams trading baskets until a second three pointer from Morris led the Hawks on a 7-0 run.

White and Mark Haddow helped maintain the small lead and heading into the final quarter the Hawks led 42-37.

Two long-distance three pointers from Niaz were the catalyst for a strong last period as the hosts notched up a hefty 19-point lead by the end of the game. Three points from D. Cohen and free throws from Alex Hinds and Norkelinas saw the game out.

HARLOW HAWKS: Niaz 19pts, Norkelinas 12, Morris 8, White 6, Hind 5, Cohen 5, Haddow 4, Whytock 2, Burgess.

MY HAWKS JUST NEED TO BELIEVE

Spirit of Reading alive as Sonko eyes FA Cup shock

by Alan Scott

CENTRAL defender Ibrahima Sonko has issued a huge compliment to his Hawks team-mates – by comparing them to the side he played with in the Premier League at Reading.

As Harlow Town head into their biggest FA Cup match for nearly ten years, the endorsement of the ex-Royals favourite will be ringing in their ears.

Harlow might not be able to match that Reading side in terms of skill and talent, but 34-year-old Sonko is adamant that in terms of application, spirit and desire they can match that successful Royals team.

He believes these are the ingredients required to cause a cup upset by knocking out Vanarama National Premier side Braintree Town on Saturday.

The Iron, managed by former Harlow player Danny Cowley and with ex-Hawks favourite and midfielder Kenny Davis in their ranks, are big favourites.

Great team

But with the commitment and ability shown by Harlow in their massive upset at Bath City, beating the Vanarama South club 2-1 in a replay just over a week ago, Sonko is convinced the Hawks can cause another huge cup shock.

Sonko, who has also played for Stoke City and in the Turkish Super Lig, said: "I have played with some great teams and this team reminds me of my Reading team."

"It works very hard and it doesn't matter what division they are, they keep their heads up."

"We can lose one, two, three games in a row. But mentally we can go and win four or five in a row."

"It's about not panicking, it's about believing. We can achieve anything."

Cowley has lifted Braintree since taking over in the summer after a successful spell at Concord Rangers. They are sixth in the table.

Sonko said: "We are going to show Braintree respect. And the best respect we can show them is by going there and playing the best game we can play."

Sonko became a hero at the Madejski Stadium, where he was an ever present in the 2005-06 season and helped the team to promotion to the Premier League under Steve Coppell when they went up as champions.

'If we take our chances we can go through'

DANNY CHAPMAN knows his Hawks side simply have to be clinical if they are to stand a chance of causing an FA Cup upset at Vanarama National League side Braintree Town on Saturday.

Harlow Town are expected to take about 250 fans up the A120 for the fourth round qualifying clash against an Iron side managed by ex-Hawks player Danny Cowley.

Harlow caused a massive shock when they knocked out Vanarama National South team Bath City 2-1 in a third qualifying round replay at Twerton Park nine days ago.

But Chapman is well aware Braintree, riding high in sixth in the top tier of non-league football, will be overwhelming favourites.

"We have got to make sure we create opportunities for Alex Read and Junior Dadson," said Chapman. "We have to hope they take those opportunities."

"It just depends what happens on the day. It's the best club competition in the world. Scalsps have been taken in the past and hopefully we can get another one of those scalpings."

"We know we have goals in our side. We just have to make sure we are disciplined, then we will have a chance."

Exciting

Prize money of £12,500 is available for the winner of the tie. But for the fans and players, a place in the first round proper, when the likes of recent winners Wigan Athletic as well as Sheffield United come into the competition, is far more exciting.

Chapman said: "We cannot be fearful. We need to show respect for the league they are in."

"After the result at Bath our confidence was boosted. "Braintree will have more possession, but it just depends what we allow them to do with that possession."

Winger Shane Stamp is cup tied, while midfielder Lewis Perkins, who scored the crucial second goal against Bath, is doubtful with a leg injury.

Club chairman John Barnett said: "While we have got Ready [Alex Read] and [Junior] Dadson and players like we try to have here, we have always got a chance, and we will give everybody a game, any week of the year."
